

Personal Property

This paper is not an addendum to the contract or code of conduct, but serves to ensure that your parents and you take special note of current policies and procedures relating to your personal property.

I acknowledge the portion of the staff contract that notes:

There is no insurance coverage, provided by your employer, for personal items, for theft, fire, or other risk. If you desire such coverage see your own or your parent's insurance broker.

It is highly recommended that as a staff member you do not bring up valuable items. Any personal property you bring to camp is your responsibility. You should bring a footlocker or other secure area to store your belongings. Any valuable items should be in a locked storage place when not in use.

Access to electricity within the campsite is strictly limited. Cell phones must not be used around Cub Scouts or leaders with the exception of directors, designated individuals, and designated uses. Staff members should utilize their phone when they are not on duty, and they should do so in staff site. Unauthorized use of a cell phone may result in disciplinary action.
